

EDUCATIONAL WEBINAR SERIES

Promoting Behavioral Health Education Using a Digital Platform

Webinar attendees get a free CEU for watching the live presentation, as well as a chance to participate in an hour-long Q&A session afterward.

A Free, Easily Accessible Resource for Education

When it comes to educating the behavioral health community, Foundations Recovery Network has always sought to take an active role. Our educational webinar series is just one piece of our multi-faceted initiative to provide continued learning in the addiction and mental health treatment field. Our webinars take place once a month and are free to the public, with a CE credit available to treatment professionals who attend. Webinars are recorded and available to watch after they have aired, but viewers only get CEUs for attending the live webinars. Since we launched the educational webinar series, hundreds of individuals have furthered their education by attending these free presentations online.

Atlanta | Santa Monica | Memphis | Malibu
Nashville | Palm Springs | San Francisco

Webinar speakers can gain valuable exposure while expanding their influence through a digital platform.

Features of the Webinar Series

Begun in May 2012, the educational webinar series seeks to do several things:

- Provide free CEUs for treatment professionals
- Offer an online venue for industry experts to educate their peers
- Promote effective treatment methods
- Establish beneficial relationships among treatment professionals

More Opportunities for Education: Conferences

Twice a year, Foundations hosts conferences that feature the latest in behavioral health education. Experts from all over the country provide unique workshops and keynote presentations on a variety of treatment subjects. To find out more, please visit us online at FoundationsEvents.com.

What Are the Benefits of Being a Webinar Speaker?

Being an FRN webinar speaker includes many benefits. You can gain exposure to a broader audience, receive recognition as an expert in your field, practice speaking as a professional, and expand your speaking capabilities to a digital platform. You can also create awareness about current treatment techniques and new approaches, in addition to teaching others how to apply treatment methods to a specific population. Webinars also provide an opportunity to network with other professionals in attendance. A one-hour question and answer session is standard at the end of each webinar, giving participants a chance to dialogue with others, have unique conversations and stay in touch after the webinar is over. To become a webinar speaker, you can visit FoundationsEvents.com and fill out a speaker application. A Foundations business development representative will be in touch with you and can help you get scheduled to present. To view our catalog of webinars or register as an attendee, go to FoundationsEvents.com and fill out the registrant information form. From there, you will have full access to all Foundations webinars.
